
CANADIAN BROADCAST STANDARDS COUNCIL
APPENDIX B: (CBSC Decision 02/03-0638)
CJAY-FM re Forbes and Friends (multiple choice "quiz")

The following is a transcript of the segment broadcast on Forbes and Friends on February 10, 2003:

Gerry Forbes: Hi, CJAY!

Caller: Hello

Forbes: Hi. Who's this?

Caller: It's Pat.

Forbes: Pat, you wanna play?

Pat: Sure.

Forbes: You really can't blow this one, buddy.

Pat: Okay.

Forbes: Okay. Muslims around the world continue to travel to Mecca on the week-end to celebrate: a) a celebration of forgiveness; b) homage to Allah; or c) just a way to build up some frequent flyer miles so you don't have to pay the next time you want to ram an airplane in the stronghold of the Western civilization.

Pat: I'll take C.

Forbes: Absolutely right there.

Announcer 2: You nailed that one. Yeah.

Forbes: Michael Jackson filed complaints over the recent documentary saying that people think that he's a pedophile. And the interviewer had no right to: a) betray him; b) break a promise; or c) portray him accurately.

Pat: C

Forbes: Absolutely.

Announcer 2: Well done.

Forbes: He's doing a good job here.

Announcer 2: Jeez.

Forbes: Researchers followed over 2000 men for 20 years and found out that if they didn't shave everyday they were more likely to: a) die sooner; b) grow shorter; or c) give their girlfriends a nasty beard burn on their taints.

(Laughing)

Caller: I think it's C again.

Forbes: He nailed it. He's got the prize.

Announcer 2: That's enough.

Forbes: It's as simple as that.

Announcer 2: (Laughing) He's just happy he got taint on there.

Forbes: You don't want to get burned up taint.

(More laughter.)