

The Canadian Broadcast Standards Council (CBSC) is an independent, non-governmental organization created by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) to administer the codified standards established by its members, Canada's private broadcasters. Through a voluntary system of codes and standards, the Council ensures the interests and sensitivities of Canadians are respected, while meeting their responsibility to preserve the industry's creative, editorial and journalistic freedom. With the evolving media landscape, the broadcasting sector will be facing a number of challenges over the coming years. It is within this exciting context that the CBSC is seeking to recruit its next National Chair.

The National Chair manages both the National Executive as well as the two National Adjudicating Panels of the CBSC. He/She is also responsible for managing staff and resources of the council, and ensures that the organization is well run, and executing its important mandate.

As the ideal candidate, you are a natural leader with experience directing and leading staff to accomplish organizational goals and objectives. You have a talent for managing a variety of stakeholders, and are known to be an attentive listener with superior relationship management skills. You articulate your thoughts clearly in both French and English, and present information in a straightforward and logical way. Your knowledge in the area of broadcasting and the regulation of programming content will be invaluable as you work with stakeholders at the CBSC to anticipate trends in industry, and continue to ensure the CBSC innovates as it fulfills its mandate.
